

Thursday
June 29, 2017
13:15-14:45
Faculty Building 3,
East Campus
Hitotsubashi
University 第3研究館
東キャンパス

Reconstruction in Tohoku

-Moving forward from loss-

Six years have passed since the Great East Japan Earthquake. Since then, people have been dealing with this unexpected tragedy. They have also had to face a different problem-social division. While there are some who actively try to remember the event and continue in their support efforts, there are others who are not like them. In the areas struck by disaster, different attitudes exist between people living in coastal areas and those living inland of Iwate. These social divisions may hinder the reformation of Tohoku.

Kei Sato (Photo Journalist & Writer)

Kei Sato was born in Iwate in 1982. He is a photojournalist and has traveled across the world to countries in Africa, the Middle East and South Asia. He has been reporting about Tohoku region since the Great East Japan Earthquake. He was awarded a prize in the World Peace Art Contest in 2011.

Map: <http://www.hit-u.ac.jp/eng/about/direction/guide/campus/e-campus/>
For more information, contact Sonja Dale (sonja.dale@r.hit-u.ac.jp)